its ongoing collaboration with and coordination of all mine-related activities of United Nations agencies, funds and programmes,[2]

Noting with appreciation the extent to which the International Day for Mine Awareness and Assistance in Mine Action has been commemorated worldwide,

Reaffirming its deep concern at the tremendous humanitarian and development problems caused by the presence of mines and explosive remnants of war[3] that have serious and lasting social and economic consequences for the populations of countries affected by mines and explosive remnants of war,

Bearing in mind the serious threat that mines and explosive remnants of war pose to the safety, health and lives of local civilian populations, as well as of personnel participating in humanitarian, peacekeeping and rehabilitation programmes and operations,

Deeply alarmed by the number of mines that continue to be laid each year, as well as the presence of a decreasing but still very large number of, and area of square kilometres infested by, mines and explosive remnants of war as a result of armed conflicts, and therefore remaining convinced of the necessity and urgency of strengthening mine-action efforts by the international community with a view to eliminating the threat of landmines and explosive remnants of war to civilians as soon as possible,

Recognizing that, in addition to the primary role of States, the United Nations has a significant role to play in the field of assistance in mine action, and considering mine action to be an important and integrated component of United Nations humanitarian and development activities, as well as noting the integration of mine action in numerous United Nations peacekeeping operations,

Stressing the need to convince mine-affected States to halt new deployments of anti-personnel mines in order to ensure the effectiveness and efficiency of mine-clearance operations,

Stressing also the pressing need to urge non-State actors to halt immediately and unconditionally new deployments of mines and other associated explosive devices,

1. Takes note of the report of the Secretary-General on assistance in mine action;[4]

2. Calls, in particular, for the continuation of the efforts of States, with the assistance of the United Nations and relevant organizations involved in mine action, as appropriate, to foster the establishment and development of national mine-action capacities in countries in which mines and explosive remnants of war constitute a serious threat to the safety, health and lives of the local civilian population or an impediment to social and economic development efforts at the national and local levels;

[3] As defined by Protocol V to the Convention on Prohibitions or Restrictions on the Use of Certain Conventional Weapons Which May be Deemed to Be Excessively Injurious or to Have Indiscriminate Effects.

[4] A/62/307.

3. Urges all States, in particular those that have the capacity to do so, as well as the United Nations system and relevant organizations and institutions involved in mine action, as appropriate, to provide:

(a) Assistance to countries affected by mines and explosive remnants of war for the establishment and development of national mine-action capacities;

(b) Support for national programmes, where appropriate, in cooperation with the relevant bodies of the United Nations system and relevant regional, governmental and non-governmental organizations, to reduce the risks posed by landmines and explosive remnants of war, taking into consideration the differing impacts on women, men, girls and boys;

(c) Reliable, predictable and timely contributions for mine-action activities, including through national mine-action efforts and mine-action programmes of non-governmental organizations, including those relating to victim assistance and mine risk education, especially at the local level, as well as through the United Nations Voluntary Trust Fund for Assistance in Mine Action and relevant regional trust funds for assistance in mine action;

(d) Necessary information and technical, financial and material assistance to locate, remove, destroy and otherwise render ineffective minefields, mines, booby traps, other devices and explosive remnants of war, in accordance with international law, as soon as possible;

(e) Technological assistance (i) to countries affected by mines and explosive remnants of war; and (ii) to promote user-oriented scientific research on and development of mine-action techniques and technology that are effective, sustainable, appropriate and environmentally sound;

6. Encourages affected States to proactively mainstream mine action and victim assistance requirements into development plans and processes in order to ensure that development priorities include mine action and that mine action is predictably funded;

7. Encourages all relevant multilateral, regional and national programmes and bodies to include, in coordination with the United Nations, activities related to mine action, including mine clearance, in their humanitarian, rehabilitation, reconstruction and development assistance activities, where appropriate, bearing in mind the need to ensure national and local ownership, sustainability and capacity-building, as well as to include a gender and age-appropriate perspective in all aspects of such activities;

8. Stresses the importance of cooperation and coordination in mine action, and emphasizes the primary responsibility of national authorities in that regard, also stresses the supporting role of the United Nations and other relevant organizations in that regard, and underlines the need for continuous assessment of the role of the United Nations in mine action;

9. Recognizes the importance of explicitly incorporating references to mine action, when appropriate, in ceasefire and peace agreements in light of the potential that mine action can have as a peace and confidence-building measure in post-conflict situations among parties concerned;

10. Requests the Secretary-General to submit to the General Assembly at its sixty-fourth session a report on the implementation of the present resolution and on follow-up to previous resolutions on assistance in mine clearance and assistance in mine action, including on relevant United Nations policies and activities;

11. Decides to include in the provisional agenda of its sixty-fourth session the item entitled "Assistance in mine action".

Cuba:* draft resolution

Question of Tokelau

The General Assembly,

Having considered the question of Tokelau,

Having examined the chapter of the report of the Special Committee on the Situation with regard to the Implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples relating to Tokelau,[1]

Recalling its resolution 1514 (XV) of 14 December 1960, containing the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples, and all resolutions and decisions of the United Nations relating to Non-Self-Governing Territories, in particular General Assembly resolution 61/127 of 14 December 2006,

Noting with appreciation the continuing exemplary cooperation of New Zealand as the administering Power with regard to the work of the Special Committee relating to Tokelau and its readiness to permit access by United Nations visiting missions to the Territory,

Also noting with appreciation the collaborative contribution to the development of Tokelau by New Zealand and the specialized agencies and other organizations of the United Nations system, in particular the United Nations Development Programme,

* On behalf of the States Members of the United Nations that are members of the Special Committee on the Situation with regard to the Implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples.

[1] Official Records of the General Assembly, Sixty-second Session, Supplement No. 23 (A/62/23), chap. X.

07-59398 (E) 121107

Recalling the inauguration in 1996 of a national legislative body, the General Fono, based on village elections by universal adult suffrage and the assumption by that body in June 2003 of full responsibility for the Tokelau budget,

Noting that, as a small island Territory, Tokelau exemplifies the situation of most remaining Non-Self-Governing Territories and that, as a case study pointing to successful cooperation for decolonization, Tokelau has wider significance for the United Nations as it seeks to complete its work in decolonization,

Recalling that New Zealand and Tokelau signed in November 2003 a document entitled "Joint statement of the principles of partnership", which sets out in writing, for the first time, the rights and obligations of the two partner countries,

Bearing in mind the decision of the General Fono at its meeting in November 2003, following extensive consultations undertaken in all three villages, to explore formally with New Zealand the option of self-government in free association and its decision in August 2005 to hold a referendum on self-government on the basis of a draft constitution for Tokelau and a treaty of free association with New Zealand,

1. Notes that Tokelau remains firmly committed to the development of its capacity for self-government;

2. Welcomes the substantial progress made towards the devolution of power to the three taupulega (village councils), in particular the delegation of the Administrator's powers to the three taupulega with effect from 1 July 2004 and the assumption by each taupulega from that date of full responsibility for the management of all its public services;

3. Recalls the decision of the General Fono in November 2003, following extensive consultations in all three villages and a meeting of the Special Committee on the Constitution of Tokelau, to explore formally with New Zealand the option of self-government in free association, and the discussions subsequently held between Tokelau and New Zealand pursuant to the General Fono decision;

4. Recalls also the decision of the General Fono in August 2005 to hold a referendum on self-government on the basis of a draft constitution for Tokelau and a treaty of free association with New Zealand, and notes the enactment by the General Fono of rules for the referendum;

5. Acknowledges Tokelau's initiative in devising a strategic economic development plan for the period 2007-2010;

6. Also acknowledges the continuing assistance that New Zealand has committed to promoting Tokelau's welfare, as well as the cooperation of the United Nations Development Programme;

7. Further acknowledges Tokelau's need for continued support from the international community;

8. Welcomes the establishment and operation of the Tokelau International Trust Fund to support the future development needs of Tokelau, and calls upon Member States and international and regional agencies to contribute to the Fund and thereby lend practical support to assist this emerging country in overcoming the problems of smallness, isolation and lack of resources;

9. Also welcomes the assurance of the Government of New Zealand that it will meet its obligations to the United Nations with respect to Tokelau and abide by the freely expressed wishes of the people of Tokelau with regard to their future status;

10. Further welcome the cooperative attitude of the other States and territories in the region towards Tokelau, and their support for its economic and political aspirations and increasing participation in regional and international affairs;

11. Calls upon the administering Power and United Nations agencies to continue to provide assistance to Tokelau as it further develops;

12. Welcomes the actions taken by the administering Power to transmit information regarding the political, economic and social situation of Tokelau to the Secretary-General;

13. Notes the considerable progress made towards the adoption of a Constitution and of national symbols by Tokelau, and the steps taken by Tokelau and New Zealand to agree to a draft treaty of free association as a basis for an act of self-determination;

14. Also notes that a referendum to determine the future status of Tokelau held in February 2006 failed to produce a two-thirds majority of the valid votes cast required by the General Fono to change Tokelau's status as a Non-Self-Governing Territory under the administration of New Zealand;

15. Further notes the decision of the General Fono to conduct a further referendum to determine the future status of Tokelau from 20 to 24 October 2007;

16. Commends the professional and transparent conduct of both the February 2006 and the October 2007 referendums, monitored by the United Nations;

17. Notes that the October 2007 referendum also failed to produce the two-thirds majority of the valid votes cast required by the General Fono to change Tokelau's status as a Non-Self-Governing Territory under the administration of New Zealand;

18. Welcomes the commitment of both Tokelau and New Zealand to continue to work together in the interests of Tokelau and its people, taking into account the principle of the right to self-determination;

19. Requests the Special Committee on the Situation with regard to the Implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples to continue to examine the question of the Non-Self-Governing Territory of Tokelau and to report thereon to the General Assembly at its sixty-third session.

(b) Benefit from additional means and procedures that assist in the identification of space objects, including, in particular, in accordance with article VI of the Registration Convention;

Noting that States parties to the Registration Convention and international intergovernmental organizations conducting space activities, having declared their acceptance of the rights and obligations under the Convention, shall furnish information to the Secretary-General in accordance with the Convention and shall establish an appropriate registry and inform the Secretary-General of the establishment of such a registry in accordance with the Convention,

Considering that universal accession to and acceptance, implementation and observance of the provisions of the Registration Convention:

(a) Lead to increased establishment of appropriate registries;

(b) Contribute to the development of procedures and mechanisms for the maintenance of appropriate registries and the provision of information to the Register of Objects Launched into Outer Space;

(c) Contribute to common procedures, at the national and international levels, for registering space objects with the Register;

(d) Contribute to uniformity with regard to the information to be furnished and recorded in the Register concerning space objects listed in the appropriate registries;

(e) Contribute to the receipt of and recording in the Register of additional information concerning space objects on the appropriate registries and information on objects that are no longer in Earth orbit;

Noting that changes in space activities since the Registration Convention entered into force include the continuous development of new technologies, an increase in the number of States carrying out space activities, an increase in international cooperation in the peaceful uses of outer space and an increase in activities carried out by non-governmental entities, as well as partnerships formed by non-governmental entities from more than one country,

Desirous of achieving the most complete registration of space objects,

Desirous also of enhancing adherence to the Registration Convention,

1. Recommends, with regard to adherence to the Registration Convention,[2] that:

(a) States that have not yet ratified or acceded to the Registration Convention should become parties to that Convention in accordance with their domestic law and, until they become parties to the Convention, furnish information in accordance with General Assembly resolution 1721 B (XVI) of 20 December 1961;

(b) International intergovernmental organizations conducting space activities that have not yet declared their acceptance of the rights and obligations under the Registration Convention should do so in accordance with article VII of the Convention;

2. Also recommends, with regard to the harmonization of practices, that:

(a) Consideration should be given to achieving uniformity in the type of information to be provided to the Secretary-General on the registration of space objects, and such information could include, inter alia:

(i) The Committee on Space Research international designator, where appropriate;

(ii) Coordinated Universal Time as the time reference for the date of launch;

(iii) Kilometres, minutes and degrees as the standard units for basic orbital parameters;

(iv) Any useful information relating to the function of the space object in addition to the general function requested by the Registration Convention;

(b) Consideration should be given to the furnishing of additional appropriate information to the Secretary-General on the following areas:

(i) The geostationary orbit location, where appropriate;

(ii) Any change of status in operations (inter alia, when a space object is no longer functional);

(iii) The approximate date of decay or re-entry, if States are capable of verifying that information;

(iv) The date and physical conditions of moving a space object to a disposal orbit;

(v) Web links to official information on space objects;

(c) States conducting space activities and international intergovernmental organizations that have declared the acceptance of the rights and obligations under the Registration Convention should, when they have designated focal points for their appropriate registries, provide the Office for Outer Space Affairs of the Secretariat with the contact details of those focal points;

3. Further recommends, in order to achieve the most complete registration of space objects, that:

(a) Due to the complexity of the responsibility structure in international intergovernmental organizations conducting space activities, a solution should be sought in cases where an international intergovernmental organization conducting space activities has not yet declared its acceptance of the rights and obligations under the Registration Convention, and a general backup solution be provided for registration by international intergovernmental organizations conducting space activities in cases where there is no consensus on registration among the States members of such organizations;

(b) The State from whose territory or facility a space object has been launched should, in the absence of prior agreement, contact States or international intergovernmental organizations that could qualify as "launching States" to jointly determine which State or entity should register the space object;

(c) In cases of joint launches of space objects, each space object should be registered separately and, without prejudice to the rights and obligations of States, space objects should be included, in accordance with international law, including the relevant United Nations treaties on outer space, in the appropriate registry of the State responsible for the operation of the space object under article VI of the Outer Space Treaty;[1]

(d) States should encourage launch service providers under their jurisdiction to advise the owner and/or operator of the space object to address the appropriate States on the registration of that space object;

4. Recommends that, following the change in supervision of a space object in orbit:

(a) The State of registry, in cooperation with the appropriate State according to article VI of the Outer Space Treaty, could furnish to the Secretary-General additional information, such as:

(i) The date of change in supervision;

(ii) The identification of the new owner or operator;

(iii) Any change of orbital position;

(iv) Any change of function of the space object;

(b) If there is no State of registry, the appropriate State according to article VI of the Outer Space Treaty could furnish the above information to the Secretary-General;

5. Requests the Office for Outer Space Affairs:

(a) To make available to all States and international intergovernmental organizations a model registration form reflecting the information to be provided to the Office for Outer Space Affairs, to assist them in their submission of registration information;

(b) To make public, through its website, the contact details of the focal points;

(c) To establish web links on its website to the appropriate registries that are available on the Internet;

6. Recommends that States and international intergovernmental organizations report to the Office for Outer Space Affairs on new developments relating to their practice in registering space objects.

Agenda item 31
International cooperation in the peaceful uses of outer space

France:* draft resolution

International cooperation in the peaceful uses of outer space

The General Assembly,

Recalling its resolutions 51/122 of 13 December 1996, 54/68 of 6 December 1999, 59/2 of 20 October 2004 and 61/110 and 61/111 of 14 December 2006,

Recognizing the remarkable convergence of anniversaries of space activities in 2007, which includes the fiftieth anniversary of the advent of the space age with the launch into outer space of the first artificial Earth satellite, Sputnik I, on 4 October 1957; the fortieth anniversary of the Treaty on Principles Governing the Activities of States in the Exploration and Use of Outer Space, including the Moon and Other Celestial Bodies[1] (Outer Space Treaty), which entered into force on 10 October 1967; the fiftieth session of the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space; and the fiftieth anniversary of the International Geophysical Year, which is being commemorated by the proclamation of 2007 as International Heliophysical Year,

Deeply convinced of the common interest of mankind in promoting and expanding the exploration and use of outer space, as the province of all mankind, for peaceful purposes and in continuing efforts to extend to all States the benefits derived therefrom, and also of the importance of international cooperation in this field, for which the United Nations should continue to provide a focal point,

Reaffirming the importance of international cooperation in developing the rule of law, including the relevant norms of space law and their important role in international cooperation for the exploration and use of outer space for peaceful purposes, and of the widest possible adherence to international treaties that promote the peaceful uses of outer space in order to meet emerging new challenges, especially for developing countries,

* In its capacity as Chairman of the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space.
[1] Resolution 2222 (XXI), annex.

07-59842 (E) 161107

Seriously concerned about the possibility of an arms race in outer space, and bearing in mind the importance of article IV of the Outer Space Treaty,

Recognizing that all States, in particular those with major space capabilities, should contribute actively to the goal of preventing an arms race in outer space as an essential condition for the promotion and strengthening of international cooperation in the exploration and use of outer space for peaceful purposes,

Considering that space debris is an issue of concern to all nations,

Noting the progress achieved in the further development of peaceful space exploration and applications as well as in various national and cooperative space projects, which contributes to international cooperation, and the importance of further developing the legal framework to strengthen international cooperation in this field,

Convinced of the importance of the recommendations in the resolution entitled "The Space Millennium: Vienna Declaration on Space and Human Development", adopted by the Third United Nations Conference on the Exploration and Peaceful Uses of Outer Space (UNISPACE III), held at Vienna from 19 to 30 July 1999,[2] and the need to promote the use of space technology towards implementing the United Nations Millennium Declaration,[3]

Seriously concerned about the devastating impact of disasters,[4] which cause the loss of lives and property, displace people from their homes, destroy their livelihoods and cause tremendous damage to societies around the world, and deeply convinced of the urgent need for enhanced coordination efforts at the global level to reduce the impact of disasters,

Convinced that the use of existing space technology, such as Earth observation and meteorological satellites, communications satellites and satellite navigation and positioning systems, and their applications, can play a vital role in supporting disaster management by providing accurate and timely information for decision-making and re-establishing communication in case of disasters,

Desirous of enhancing international coordination at the global level in disaster management and emergency response through greater access to and use of space-based services for all countries and facilitating capacity-building and institutional strengthening for disaster management, in particular in developing countries,

Convinced that the use of space science and technology and their applications in such areas as telemedicine, tele-education, disaster management, environmental protection and other Earth observation applications contribute to achieving the objectives of the global conferences of the United Nations that address various aspects of economic, social and cultural development, particularly poverty eradication,

Recalling the advisory opinion rendered on 9 July 2004 by the International Court of Justice,[7] and also recalling General Assembly resolution ES-10/15,

Noting in particular the Court's reply, including that the Fourth Geneva Convention[2] is applicable in the Occupied Palestinian Territory, including East Jerusalem, and that Israel is in breach of several of the provisions of the Convention,

Noting the convening, on 15 July 1999, of a Conference of High Contracting Parties to the Fourth Geneva Convention on measures to enforce the Convention in the Occupied Palestinian Territory, including East Jerusalem, and to ensure respect thereof in accordance with article 1 common to the four Geneva Conventions, and stressing the importance of the Declaration adopted by the reconvened Conference on 5 December 2001 and the need for the parties to follow up the implementation of the Declaration,

Welcoming and encouraging the initiatives by States parties to the Convention, both individually and collectively, according to article 1 common to the four Geneva Conventions, aimed at ensuring respect for the Convention,

Expressing grave concern also about the continuing unlawful construction by Israel of the wall inside the Occupied Palestinian Territory, including in and around East Jerusalem, and expressing its concern in particular about the route of the wall in departure from the Armistice Line of 1949, which is causing serious humanitarian hardship and a serious decline of socio-economic conditions for the Palestinian people, is fragmenting the territorial contiguity of the Palestinian Territory and could prejudge future negotiations and make the two-State solution physically impossible to implement,

Expressing grave concern about the continuing systematic violation of the human rights of the Palestinian people by Israel, the occupying Power, including that arising from the excessive use of force, the use of collective punishment, the reoccupation and closure of areas, the confiscation of land, the establishment and expansion of settlements, the construction of the wall inside the Occupied Palestinian Territory in departure from the Armistice Line of 1949, the destruction of property and infrastructure, and all other actions by it designed to change the legal status, geographical nature and demographic composition of the Occupied Palestinian Territory, including East Jerusalem,

Expressing deep concern about the continuing deterioration in the humanitarian and security situation in the Gaza Strip, including that resulting from the Israeli military actions against civilian areas, air raids and the prolonged closure of crossings into and out of the Gaza Strip, as well as from the firing of rockets into Israel and the negative impact of the events of June 2007 leading to the unlawful takeover of Palestinian Authority institutions in the Gaza Strip,

The occupied Syrian Golan

The General Assembly,

Having considered the report of the Special Committee to Investigate Israeli Practices Affecting the Human Rights of the Palestinian People and Other Arabs of the Occupied Territories,[1]

Deeply concerned that the Syrian Golan, occupied since 1967, has been under continued Israeli military occupation,

Recalling Security Council resolution 497 (1981) of 17 December 1981,

Recalling also its previous relevant resolutions, the most recent of which was resolution 61/120 of 14 December 2006,

Having considered the report of the Secretary-General submitted in pursuance of resolution 61/120,[2]

Recalling its previous relevant resolutions in which, inter alia, it called upon Israel to put an end to its occupation of the Arab territories,

Reaffirming once more the illegality of the decision of 14 December 1981 taken by Israel to impose its laws, jurisdiction and administration on the occupied Syrian Golan, which has resulted in the effective annexation of that territory,

[1] See A/62/360.

[2] A/62/331.

07-59957 (E) 151107

Reaffirming that the acquisition of territory by force is inadmissible under international law, including the Charter of the United Nations,

Reaffirming also the applicability of the Geneva Convention relative to the Protection of Civilian Persons in Time of War, of 12 August 1949,[3] to the occupied Syrian Golan,

Bearing in mind Security Council resolution 237 (1967) of 14 June 1967,

Welcoming the convening at Madrid of the Peace Conference on the Middle East on the basis of Security Council resolutions 242 (1967) of 22 November 1967 and 338 (1973) of 22 October 1973 aimed at the realization of a just, comprehensive and lasting peace, and expressing grave concern about the stalling of the peace process on all tracks,

1. Calls upon Israel, the occupying Power, to comply with the relevant resolutions on the occupied Syrian Golan, in particular Security Council resolution 497 (1981), in which the Council, inter alia, decided that the Israeli decision to impose its laws, jurisdiction and administration on the occupied Syrian Golan was null and void and without international legal effect and demanded that Israel, the occupying Power, rescind forthwith its decision;

2. Also calls upon Israel to desist from changing the physical character, demographic composition, institutional structure and legal status of the occupied Syrian Golan and in particular to desist from the establishment of settlements;

3. Determines that all legislative and administrative measures and actions taken or to be taken by Israel, the occupying Power, that purport to alter the character and legal status of the occupied Syrian Golan are null and void, constitute a flagrant violation of international law and of the Geneva Convention relative to the Protection of Civilian Persons in Time of War, of 12 August 1949,[3] and have no legal effect;

4. Calls upon Israel to desist from imposing Israeli citizenship and Israeli identity cards on the Syrian citizens in the occupied Syrian Golan, and from its repressive measures against the population of the occupied Syrian Golan;

Proposed programme budget for the biennium 2008-2009

International cooperation in the peaceful uses of outer space

Implementation of the United Nations Platform for Space-based Information for Disaster Management and Emergency Response

Programme budget implications of draft resolution A/C.4/62/L.9

Statement submitted by the Secretary-General in accordance with rule 153 of the rules of procedure of the General Assembly

I. Introduction

1. The General Assembly, in its resolution 61/110, decided to establish a programme within the United Nations to provide universal access for all countries and all relevant international and regional organizations to all types of space-based information and services relevant to disaster management to support the full disaster management cycle by serving as a gateway to space information for disaster management support, as a bridge to connect the disaster management and space communities and as a facilitator of capacity-building and institutional strengthening, in particular for developing countries.

2. In the same resolution, the Assembly agreed that the programme should be named the United Nations Platform for Space-based Information for Disaster Management and Emergency Response (SPIDER) and that it should be implemented as a programme of the Office for Outer Space Affairs under the overall supervision of the Director of the Office, and endorsed the recommendation of the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space that the programme have offices in Beijing and Bonn. It was further requested that the Office for Outer Space Affairs develop a detailed workplan for the programme for 2007 and for the biennium 2008-2009, to be considered during the forty-fourth session of the Scientific and Technical Subcommittee of the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space in February 2007.

3. The Office for Outer Space Affairs of the Secretariat developed a plan of work for the biennium 2008-2009, which was considered by the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space at its fiftieth session, in June 2007. The Committee endorsed the SPIDER workplan for the period 2008-2009, as amended to include specific target activities for the liaison office in Geneva.

4. The workplan detailed 11 activities, defined in the implementation framework as follows: the Beijing office will be responsible for (a) awareness-raising, (b) regional and country profiles, (c) support for national activities and (d) support for the establishment of national disaster management planning and policies; the Bonn office will be responsible for (e) the systematic compilation of relevant information, (f) ensuring that, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, relevant information is easily accessible and disseminated to all interested end-users, (g) the establishment of communities of practice, (h) the management and transfer of knowledge and (i) the platform for fostering alliances; and the Vienna office will be responsible for (j) outreach activities and (k) support for capacity-building. In addition, the liaison office in Geneva will contribute to disseminating and integrating the work of the programme into the disaster reduction and humanitarian response communities in Geneva.

5. Prior to adoption of its report, the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space was informed, in an oral statement by the Secretariat, that the Secretariat intended to carry out a thorough review of the implications of the report, in respect of the resource requirements relating to the implementation of its decision to endorse the plan of work for 2008-2009, and that a written statement containing a detailed analysis of its programme budget implications would be submitted to the Fourth Committee at the time of its consideration of the report and its decision thereon, at the sixty-second session of the General Assembly.

II. Requests contained in the draft resolution

6. Under the terms of operative paragraph 42 of draft resolution A/C.4/62/L.9, the General Assembly would endorse the SPIDER plan of work for 2007, the platform programme for the period 2007-2009 and the plan of work for the period 2008-2009, and would request the Secretary-General to implement those activities that are contained in the plan of work for the period 2008-2009.

III. Relationship of the requests to the programme of work and the programme budget for the biennium 2008-2009

7. The activities referred to above would fall under programme 5, Peaceful uses of outer space, of the biennial programme plan and priorities for the period 2008-2009, as revised by the General Assembly (A/61/6/Rev.1). As they also fall under section 6, Peaceful uses of outer space, of the proposed programme budget for the biennium 2008-2009 (A/62/6 (Sect. 6)), modifications to the programme of work and resource requirements resulting from the requests contained in the draft resolution will be considered by the General Assembly at its sixty-second session in the context of its consideration of the proposed programme budget for the biennium 2008-2009.

IV. Activities by which the request would be implemented

8. Should the SPIDER plan of work for 2007, the platform programme for the period 2007-2009 and the plan of work for the period 2008-2009 be approved by the General Assembly, the Office for Outer Space Affairs would endeavour to ensure that the following broad objectives, among others, of the SPIDER programme are reached:

(a) All countries and relevant regional and international organizations have access to and develop the capacity to use all types of space-based information to support the full disaster management cycle, i.e., an increased number of countries receive assistance in the definition of disaster management planning and policies with regard to the use of space-based technologies, as well as support in the implementation of risk reduction and emergency response activities using space-based information;

(b) Increased coherence and synergy in the space-related work of entities of the United Nations system and international space-related and disaster management entities in using space science and technology and their applications as tools to advance human development and increase overall capacity development.

9. In this connection, the Office would: (a) facilitate capacity-building and institutional strengthening through the provision of technical advisory services, upon request, to Member States to update or initiate disaster management policies and plans with regard to the use of space-based technologies for disaster reduction; (b) expand the international and regional workshops and meetings in various regions of the world so that disaster managers and experts in the use of space technology in disaster management could disseminate possibilities offered by the new SPIDER programme; (c) establish and maintain a knowledge portal that included case histories and best practices on the use of space-based data to support disaster management; (d) develop regional and country profiles; (e) undertake missions to work closely with the space community to help it understand the specific needs of the disaster management community and to develop end-to-end solutions that met the requirements of the user community; and (f) prepare reports on workshops, training courses, symposiums, conferences and seminars organized within the framework of the SPIDER programme.

10. In preparation for these activities, the Office needs solid collaboration and coordination of work between its officers in Vienna, Bonn, Beijing and the liaison office in Geneva to ensure that work is carried out in a coordinated and complete manner and that the programme involves the network of regional support offices in supporting specific programme activities.

V. Modifications required in the programme of work and the proposed programme budget for the biennium 2008-2009

11. In order to take into account the provisions of the draft resolution, the programme narrative and outputs of section 6, Peaceful uses of outer space, of the proposed programme budget for the biennium 2008-2009 (A/62/6 (Sect. 6)) would be modified and incorporated into the programme of work of section 6, subject to approval by the General Assembly at its sixty-second session. The required modifications to the outputs would be as follows:

Expected accomplishments of the Secretariat

Add a new expected accomplishment as follows:

"(d) Greater understanding, acceptance and commitment by countries and relevant international and regional organizations on how to have access to and develop the capacity to use all types of space-based information to support the full disaster management cycle".

VI. Additional resource requirements

12. Activities contained in the plan of work for the period 2008-2009 endorsed by the Committee would require additional resources to strengthen the existing capabilities of the Office for Outer Space Affairs to carry out the following elements of the SPIDER programme: programme management and coordination of activities carried out by the four SPIDER offices, as well as by the network or regional support offices.

13. The Director of the Office for Outer Space Affairs is the supervisor of SPIDER and is responsible for its implementation. The Director will be assisted by a programme coordinator and a programme assistant in planning, coordinating and managing activities, together with the leading programme officer from each SPIDER office (Beijing and Bonn) and the Office for Outer Space Affairs, United Nations Office at Vienna. The programme staff will be distributed over four offices, in Bonn, Beijing, Geneva and Vienna, carrying out the activities presented in paragraph 4 above. Additionally, the network of regional support offices will provide significant support for the implementation of the planned activities through the provision of expertise and in-kind contributions, taking on the responsibility to carry out, within the respective regions of the support offices specific parts of the activities under the management and coordination of the respective leading programme officer.

14. Success in the implementation of all activities will depend on the establishment of a decentralized, cohesive and knowledgeable management team. The core function of the management team — more specifically, the three leading programme officers together with the programme coordinator — is to ensure coordination of activities among offices, ensuring a harmonized implementation of activities across offices, and also to ensure that the programme takes advantage of the support and expertise that will be made available through the network of regional support offices, assigning parts of the activities of the workplan to the support offices and ensuring that the work is carried out as planned.

15. It is estimated that the requirements for 13 new posts (1 P-5, 3 P-4, 2 P-3, 1 P-2, 2 National Officers, 4 General Service) and non-post resources would total $2,100,000.

16. Post requirements ($1,538,000) would be as follows:

(a) One Programme Officer (P-4), Beijing office. The Programme Officer, with expertise in the understanding of requirements of the disaster management community, in the preparation of national plans of action for using space technology for disaster management and in the provision of technical backstopping to Member States, would be responsible for coordinating and implementing SPIDER activities to be carried out by the Beijing office, those to be carried out in collaboration with the liaison office in Geneva and those to be carried out in collaboration with the network of regional support offices, as well as maintaining liaison and assisting Member States in defining policies and activities that incorporate space-based information to support disaster management. Additionally, the Programme Officer would be responsible for managing and carrying out all administrative activities related to the Beijing office;

(b) One Programme Officer (P-4), Bonn office. The Programme Officer, with expertise in the use of space-based technologies for disaster management, would be responsible for coordinating and implementing SPIDER activities to be carried out by the Bonn office, those to be carried out in collaboration with the liaison office in Geneva and those to be carried out in collaboration with the network of regional support offices, as well as maintaining liaison and assisting Member States in taking advantage of potential opportunities in the area of space technology for disaster management. Additionally, the Programme Officer would be responsible for managing and carrying out all administrative activities related to the Bonn office;

(c) One Programme Officer (P-4), Vienna office. The Programme Officer, with expertise in building capacity in the use of space-based technologies for disaster management, would be responsible for coordinating and implementing SPIDER activities to be carried out by the staff located in Vienna (specifically, outreach activities and support for capacity-building), those to be carried out in collaboration with the liaison office in Geneva and those to be carried out in collaboration with the network of regional support offices, as well as maintaining liaison and assisting Member States in taking advantage of potential opportunities in the area of capacity-building and institutional strengthening;

(d) One Programme Coordinator (P-5), Vienna office. The Programme Coordinator, with specific expertise in space technology applications and experience in implementing global programmes, would directly assist the Director of the Office for Outer Space Affairs and be responsible for coordinating the programme, ensuring that all four offices and the network of regional support offices were coordinating activities, maximizing the use of resources made available and avoiding duplication of efforts. The Programme Coordinator would also maintain liaison with Member States regarding the nomination of national focal points, and subsequently coordinate with the nominated national focal points regarding activities within their respective countries;

(e) One Programme Officer (P-3), Beijing office. The Programme Officer, with a relevant scientific background in the area of space technology applications and disaster management, would assist in the provision of technical backstopping to Member States and contribute to building national capacities;

(f) One Liaison Officer (P-3), Geneva liaison office. The Liaison Officer, with a relevant background in international relations, international policy, public relations and/or a scientific or technical area (space-based applications in the area of disaster management), would assist in disseminating and integrating the work of the programme within the disaster reduction and humanitarian response communities in Geneva;

(g) Associate Expert (P-2), Vienna office. The Associate Expert, with a relevant background in the area of international development and expertise in providing support to global programmes, would assist in the planning and conducting of outreach activities, such as workshops, and also assist in coordinating and planning the development of capacity-building activities;

(h) Two National Officers, Beijing office. The National Officers, with relevant expertise in the area of disaster management, would assist in the development of country profiles, contribute to the preparation of awareness-raising publications and assist in compiling and maintaining information on disaster management policies;

(i) One Programme Assistant (General Service), Vienna office. The Programme Assistant would provide support to the Director of the Office for Outer Space Affairs and administrative support to the Programme Coordinator for activities related to the SPIDER programme;

(j) Two Administrative Assistants (General Service), Beijing office. The Administrative Assistants would provide administrative support for the activities to be carried out by the Beijing office, including the distribution of awareness-raising material worldwide;

(k) Team Assistant (General Service), Bonn office. The Team Assistant would provide administrative support for the activities of the Bonn office, including the compilation of relevant information to be included in the knowledge portal.

17. In addition, two senior experts provided on a secondment basis to the Bonn office by the German Aerospace Centre would be responsible for assisting in the definition and implementation of the knowledge portal (including the definition and implementation of a framework for the compilation of relevant information), assisting in the definition of a horizontal coordination strategy and supporting existing and new communities of practice.

18. Non-post requirements ($562,000) would be as follows:

(a) Expert group meetings ($100,000), $50,000 yearly for 20 participants in an annual expert meeting;

(b) Travel of staff ($168,000) for, inter alia, support for the coordination and implementation of the new programme, the supervision and conduct of workshops, seminars and training courses on matters related to SPIDER and the provision of technical advisory services to Member States in the field of policy and programme implementation in the area of space technology for disaster management;

(c) Contractual services ($86,000) for printing and publications;

(d) General operating expenses ($88,000) to cover data-processing and office automation equipment, including maintenance;

(e) Individual fellowships ($120,000), required for the participation of persons from developing countries in workshops, seminars and training courses.

19. It has been envisaged that two thirds of the resources needed would be made available, through voluntary contributions, by Member States that have already indicated a willingness to provide financial and in-kind support for the programme, to cover the cost of 10 posts (1 P-5, 2 P-3, 1 P-2, 2 National Officers and 4 General Service), totalling $1,064,000, and that non-post requirements amounting to $432,000 would be funded from extrabudgetary resources. The total resource requirements of $2,100,000 are proposed to be met as shown in the table below:

	Total additional requirements	From regular budget	From extrabudgetary resources[a]
		United States dollars
Posts	1 538 000	474 000	1 064 000
Expert-group meetings	100 000	100 000	—
Travel of staff	168 000	30 000	138 000
Contractual services	86 000	—	86 000
General operating expenses	88 000	—	88 000
Grants and contributions	120 000	—	120 000
Total	2 100 000	604 000	1 496 000

[a] The expected extrabudgetary contributions do not include the value of resources to be provided on an in-kind basis (e.g., staff secondments, office facilities and equipment, supplies and materials).

VII. Potential for absorption

20. No provision has been made under the proposed programme budget for the biennium 2008-2009 in the relation to the activities that would be requested under draft resolution A/C.4/62/L.9. It is not possible at this stage to identify activities within section 6 of the proposed programme budget for the biennium 2008-2009 that could be terminated, deferred, curtailed or modified during the biennium in order to meet the additional requirements.

VIII. Contingency fund

21. It will be recalled that under the procedures established by the General Assembly in its resolutions 41/213 and 42/211, a contingency fund is established for each biennium to accommodate additional expenditures derived from legislative mandates not provided for in the programme budget. Under this procedure, if additional expenditures were proposed that exceeded the resources available from the contingency fund, the activities concerned would be implemented only through redeployment of resources from low-priority areas or modifications to existing activities. Otherwise, such additional activities would have to be deferred until a later biennium.

IX. Conclusions

22. In implementation of operative paragraph 42 of draft resolution A/C.4/62/L.9 additional resources amounting to $604,000 would be required under section 6, Peaceful uses of outer space, and $78,000 under section 35, Staff assessment, to be offset by an amount of $78,000 under income section 1, Income from staff assessment of the proposed programme budget for the biennium 2008-2009.

23. This would represent a charge against the contingency fund and, as such, would require additional appropriations under the proposed programme budget for the biennium 2008-2009 to be approved by the General Assembly at its sixty-second session.

X. Actions required

24. Accordingly, should the General Assembly adopt draft resolution A/C.4/62/L.9, additional resources for the biennium 2008-2009 totalling $604,000 (before recosting) would be required over and above the level of resources proposed in the programme budget for the biennium 2008-2009 under section 6, Peaceful uses of outer space, together with an increase of $78,000 under section 35, Staff assessment, to be offset by an equivalent amount under income section 1, Income from staff assessment, of the proposed programme budget for the biennium 2008-2009.

25. The General Assembly would also be requested to approve the proposed modifications to the programme narratives and outputs to be incorporated into the programme of work of section 6, Peaceful uses of outer space, of the proposed programme budget for the biennium 2008-2009, as outlined in paragraph 11 above.
